

Showdown On Beef Control Near; May Ask End Of Ceilings

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—The fight for decontrol of beef headed for a showdown today when the Beef Advisory committee formally authorized filing of a petition to remove price ceilings from cattle, beef and veal.

The committee voted 11 to 1 to petition for decontrol, and authorized Robert G. Thomas, executive vice president of the Lima Packing company, Lima, Ohio, and Roscoe G. Haunle, committee chairman and vice president of Wilson and Company, Chicago, to sign the appeal.

Haynie told reporters that the petition will be based on a contention that, under terms of the price control act, beef is eligible for decontrol. One eligibility requirement is that beef cattle be in ample supply.

"Loan" Proposed
Haynie declined to name the committee member who refused to vote for a decontrol petition. However, he said the member felt that this is not the proper time for the action.

An OPA official told reporters the agency now is working on new regulations which he said deal with distribution of meat supplies and increases in prices on some meats.

The decontrol action came as the War department announced that negotiations are under way for a "loan" of 20,000,000 pounds of beef belonging to Great Britain to meet requirements for troops overseas.

Would Be Repaid
The department had said earlier the negotiations were for Argentine beef, to be taken from Argentina's exportable surplus.

Today's announcement said that under plans being discussed with Britain the United States would repay the British with meat, pound for pound, prior to February 28.

The Agriculture department meanwhile maintained strict silence on tentative plans for easing the domestic meat shortage as it awaited a formal demand that livestock price controls be ended.

The War department said delivery would be sought for early November. Combined requirements of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and War Shipping administration, for which the army quartermaster general buys perishables, is 12,000,000 pounds of beef weekly.

CHAMBER PLANS ANNUAL DINNER MEETING OCT. 31

Plans for the annual membership meeting of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce were outlined Monday evening at the regular meeting of the officers and board of directors in the Chamber offices on Baltimore street.

Thursday, October 31, was selected as the date for the annual session for all members with the exact time and place to be announced later.

George Bailey, described as "the man with the photographic mind," was selected by the board for the entertainment in connection with the dinner. Three directors will be named to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of President Henry W. Garvin, A. E. Hutchison and Nicholas Meligakes, who is filling the unexpired term of Vernon Corle who resigned on moving from the borough.

Nominating Committee
A nominating committee comprising J. I. Burgoon, chairman; Glenn Guise, Daniel E. Teeter, Orville Orner, and Charles W. Myers was appointed to present nominees for the directorial terms at the short business session to be held in connection with the annual dinner meeting.

The directors voted to place the Christmas decorations provided materials and labor can be secured. As customary, contributions will be solicited to help defray the expense of the decorations which were resumed last year after a lapse of several years during the war.

Members of the Chamber expressed the hope that this year's decorations can be the most beautiful ever provided for the festive Christmas season but pointed out that the ultimate result will depend on the ability to secure materials.

Invite Carriers
An invitation to the Pennsylvania Rural Letter Carriers Association to hold its annual meeting here next summer was extended by the directors.

The directors reminded local merchants of the bicycle contest to be held by the Boy Scouts during the last Saturday in October and the first Saturday in November. Previously the Chamber had gone on record as approving the idea that the merchants in the community act as sponsors for individual local Boy Scouts who are planning to take part in the "bike" contests. Further details on the contest and the part the merchants can play in it will be outlined in a bulletin to be sent out this week by the Chamber office, it was announced.

The Chamber voted a contribution toward the Lincoln Fellowship of Pennsylvania which is planning a celebration here November 19. The date of Lincoln's talk in the cemetery here, the Chamber was told, has been declared a national day of observance by Congress and the President.

WENK-PETERS WEDDING HELD

Miss Helen Louise Peters, Baltimore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Peters, Aspers, and Kenneth Grayson Wenk, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wenk, Aspers, were married Sunday morning at the Lutheran church in Aspers. The quiet ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Oliver D. Coble.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore a suit of slate blue with wine accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Her sister, Miss Kathryn Peters, who was bridesmaid, wore a black suit with black shoes, a white blouse and white gloves. Daniel Ebbert, Biglerville, was best man.

The bride is a graduate of Biglerville high school and the Central Pennsylvania Business college at Harrisburg. She is employed at Baltimore in the office of personnel in the Social Security bureau office there.

Mr. Wenk is a graduate of Arundelville high school and attended Central Pennsylvania Business college before entering the service over three years ago. He recently was placed on terminal leave after serving as a first lieutenant pilot in the Army Air Forces in the European Theater of Operations.

The couple plans to reside in Baltimore.

Tax Collector Is Attaching Wages

Borough Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert said today he has given Constable George A. Hughes 22 wage attachment notices to serve for the collection of unpaid occupation taxes for 1945 and 1946 from persons who do not own real estate in the borough. The constable's $1 service fee is added to the tax bill, Weikert said.

"It's not fair to ask 75 per cent of the taxables in the town to pay all the taxes and let others dodge their responsibilities," Weikert said. "I expect to enforce the law 100 per cent. In the near future there will be sales of cars and furniture for unpaid taxes."

The collector said in the last two months about $1,000 has been collected in overdue 1945 and 1946 taxes here. Approximately that much more remains to be gathered he said. "There are people paying tax now that never were in my office before," he added.

C. L. BUTT IS VOTED SEAT ON TOWN COUNCIL

C. L. Butt, operator of a service station on Steinwehr avenue, is the third ward's new member of the borough council, filling the place left vacant several months ago when Joseph D. Kendeheart resigned. Butt was elected Monday night at the regular October meeting of the council in the engine house.

Butt defeated two other nominees for the vacancy, former Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer and Hubert Gallagher. Five ballots were taken, Pfeffer being eliminated on the second, and Butt and Gallagher tying on the third and fourth votes.

Three Nominated
The post has been vacant since Kendeheart resigned as member of the council on May 6. Councilman Harry E. Koch brought up the matter Monday night, and nominated Butt. Pfeffer was nominated by Councilman Fred A. Hummelbaugh, and Councilman L. D. Shealer nominated Gallagher.

It was agreed that the low man on the first ballot would be eliminated, and council would then cast its ballots for the two remaining candidates. But on the first count, Butt received three votes, Pfeffer and Gallagher two each. On the second ballot, Butt and Gallagher each received three, and Pfeffer one.

The third and fourth ballots both gave Butt and Gallagher three apiece, with one blank. On the fifth ballot, Butt received four, Gallagher two, with one blank. Butt was declared elected.

LIGHTER'S AREA CHANGED AGAIN

Richard C. Lighter, Buford avenue, who has been vocational agricultural supervisor for the agricultural schools of Adams, Perry and Cumberland counties, now is in charge of Adams and Franklin counties, under a new shift of "ag" supervisors.

Previously Franklin and Fulton counties, had been combined. Now Fulton has been joined with Bedford and Blair counties under George L. Reisner, McConnellsburg. Mr. Reisner formerly was in charge of Franklin county.

Franklin county has been transferred to Mr. Lighter, and Perry and Cumberland counties will be under the jurisdiction of George Smith, former ag teacher at Boiling Springs. Mr. Lighter, who came to Adams county eight years ago, is a graduate of the University of Maryland, taught agriculture three years in Maryland and nine years in Bradford county, Pa.

Mr. Lighter took over Cumberland and Perry counties during the war, when Harold Parks, supervisor for these two counties, was called into the state office.

EARL GODSHALK BREAM NAMES IS SPEAKER FOR ROTARY MONDAY

"The United Nations may or may not be a perfect organization to insure world peace, but even if it were a perfect organization it could not function without the men with the ideals and will to make it work. It is the duty of Rotary to help produce those men."

Thus Earl Godshalk, District Rotary governor, summed up the position of Rotary in regard to the United Nations organization in a talk before the local Rotary club Monday night.

The Landisville Rotarian spoke on "Rotary in the Post-War World," declaring "Western Maryland deserved to win." He said that while Gettysburg's performance at Lehigh the preceding week had been a "pleasant surprise" the Bullets were "not up to par" last Saturday. He said Gettysburg faces a "rough season" but asserted he expects the Gettysburg college gridders to win their share of the "upsets" he sees ahead this fall.

Most Are Veterans
The fact that so many members of all teams are veterans who either have never played football before or have not played for several years contributes to the unpredictability of the season, the speaker said.

"There is a great difference in the muscle tone developed in training for war and in that found best for top-notch athletes," Bream asserted. The coach then reviewed for the Lions the members of the college squad from center to backs. Most were members of the armed forces, many with overseas service to their credit and some with outstanding war records, his talk disclosed. Coach Bream closed by presenting to the club his assistant coaches, Roy

TEETER FINES PAIR WHO RACED JEEPS IN PARK

Two youthful motorists who were charged with exceeding the 25-mile speed limit on the battlefield on September 22, were convicted Monday afternoon, following a hearing before United States Commissioner Daniel E. Teeter, and fined.

John E. Snyder, 16, of 202 Buford avenue was fined a total of $15, including costs, on the speeding charge.

Walter A. Mayer, 17, of Gettysburg R. 4, was fined $12.50, including costs, on a similar charge, and in addition, was convicted on a charge of driving on the grass, and fined another $12.50.

Starnier Laid Charges
The three charges were laid by Ellis G. Starnier, park warden, who charged Snyder and Mayer with racing on Hancock avenue, between the Pennsylvania memorial and the High Water Mark at 7:45 p.m. Mayer was charged with driving on the grass near the Pennsylvania monument.

The speeding charge alleged that the two defendants, both driving jeeps, were travelling 40 miles an hour. Snyder admitted driving faster than 25 miles an hour, but said he did not think it was 40, and Mayer admitted that he was "probably" going 35 miles an hour.

The prosecutions were brought under the rules and regulations of the Department of the Interior, as prescribed for national parks.

SET RULES FOR NON-RESIDENT SEWER SERVICE

Persons residing outside the borough limits who desire to tap into the borough sewer system will have to pay the cost of extending the sewer line to their own property, plus a $100 tappage fee for each house or building, borough council decided Monday night.

The council adopted a new ordinance covering the matter, after receiving a report and the new measure from the sewer committee. The ordinance requires property owners outside the borough to furnish a blueprint or draft, showing the distance between the existing main and the buildings to be served and to extend, at their own expense, the sewer in the public highway through this highway to their property.

If the property owner desires to construct a private sewer, the ordinance requires that he pay not only the $100 tappage fee, but an amount equal to the estimated cost of the extension of an existing borough sewer main to his property line.

To Check Street Lights
A survey of street lighting needs will be made, and a report submitted to council at the next meeting. Suggestions were made for lights in the middle of the second block on Springs avenue, at Baltimore and Locust avenue, on Baltimore street at the entrance to the high school, on the Taneytown road and on Steinwehr avenue, East Broadway extension, and in other parts of the borough.

A similar survey of the fire hydrant situation will also be conducted, and hydrants will be ordered where needed.

A request from Harvey Warner, operator of the Peace Light Inn, for permission to erect a sign at Lincoln avenue and Carlisle street directing the way to the Peace Light memorial, was referred by the council to the National Park commission.

Order More Meters
Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner reported that six new parking meters ordered at the last meeting had been received, and council directed that six more be ordered for delivery this month.

Notices will be sent to two Carlisle street property owners notifying them to make repairs to their sidewalks, and Borough Engineer Winebrenner was authorized to repair the walks and curbs on the north sides of Center Square. Work has been completed on the southeast side, and borough women are now engaged in repairing the curb and walk on the southwest corner. ## LITTLESTOWN FIREMEN BUY NEW PUMPER

Alpha Fire company No. 1, Littlestown, voted at a special meeting Monday night to accept the new $7,000 American LaFrance fire engine which has been tested and displayed for the last five days. It is the latest type of triple combination fire apparatus, and includes the 500-gallon pump, and hose car with 200-gallon booster tank. The engine has a 170-horsepower motor. Charles Perry, an engineer from the American LaFrance Foamite corporation, Elmira, N. Y., was in town since Thursday evening, teaching local firemen how to use the new piece of equipment, and answered questions.

Fire Chief Jay D. Basehoar reported at the meeting on the tests given the new engine, and said they had been satisfactory. Members of the purchasing committee also reported favorably on the apparatus. The price was listed as $7,245, less two per cent for payment within 30 days. Fully equipped, the cost is expected to exceed $8,000.

Decision to purchase a new fire truck was made at a meeting last October, and an apparatus and equipment committee was appointed to get prices and make a selection. This committee was composed of James U. Bowers, Henry Waltman, Bernard Dillman, Edward G. Loeffel, Ralph Staley, and Kenneth Olinger.

The trustees of the company were authorized to investigate insurance rates for the new truck, and to make the best buy they could, according to their judgment. The secretary, Harry W. Badders, was instructed to buy four pairs of rubber boots, and certain hose connections needed. Wayne Arnold presided at the meeting.

HURRICANE IS LOSING FORCE, LIGHT DAMAGE

Miami, Fla., Oct. 8 (AP)—A hurricane which boiled up in the western Caribbean to whirl furiously toward the thickly populated Florida west coast miraculously lost its force today, sparing the area from heavy damage.

Tampa, St. Petersburg, and other resort cities in the Tampa bay area had prepared for the worst. But the worst turned out to be only moderately high winds early today which swept on up the Florida mainland, turning inland and heading toward south Georgia and South Carolina.

A freakish twist, as often is the history of tropical storms, brought relief to the worried, rich west coast. The 125-mile an hour winds suddenly dropped to gusts of 50 miles or so. There was no official explanation—only relief.

Citrus Fruit Escapes

Even the bumper citrus crop appeared to have escaped. First reports from Lakeland, heart of the grapefruit and orange belt, said the loss was minor. A record-making crop with a value of $150,000,000 has been forecast for this season.

The weakened hurricane which breezed across the Florida peninsula this morning was expected to remain inland with continued movement over southeastern Georgia and South Carolina today and tonight although strong winds were indicated as far north as Atlantic City.

The federal storm warning service in a 7:15 a. m. (EST) advisory placed the storm a short distance west of Jacksonville and moving 30 to 35 miles an hour with greatly "decreased intensity."

Jacksonville had felt winds up to 45 miles an hour in gusts with low-est pressure 29.20, the advisory stated.

The hurricane with early winds reported as high as 125 miles an hour at the center entered the mouth of Tampa bay about midnight with great loss of intensity and moved across the state's rich citrus belt.

When you see something that needs to be done, ask yourself two questions. The first, "If I don't do it, who will?" and the second, "If I don't start now when will it ever be done?"

"Citizenship is not fulfilled simply by paying one's taxes," he concluded.

Club Assembly Follows

Following the regular meeting at which 50 members and guests were present a club assembly was held at which the officers, directors and committee chairmen met with Mr. Godshalk to discuss the needs of the local club and the aims of Rotary during the coming year.

Dr. Frederick Tilberg introduced Frederick Rodgers, president of the student council at Gettysburg high school, as an honorary member of the Rotary club. Under a plan put into effect this year six seniors will be honorary members of the club, each for two month terms, in order to give the students an opportunity to learn the functions and ideals of a service club.

Next Monday the Rotarians will gather at the National Fruit Product Corporation at Peach Glen, the club president, Dr. C. N. Gitt announced. Members will arrive at the plant between 4 and 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in order to tour the establishment prior to the closing hour. The group will then be guests of the company at dinner in the Knouse cafeteria. Ralph E. Arnold will be in charge of the meeting.

Berkheimer was named to cooperate with the Moose lodge in planning a Halloween celebration and Hugh C. McIlhenny, C. Paul Cessna and Radford H. Lippy were named to a memorial committee.

CALL OWNERS AND STRIKERS TO NEW PARLEY

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—The government summoned strike bound ship operators and union leaders to what may be a last ditch effort today to end the all-coast maritime tieup.

An unofficial 48-hour settlement deadline set by negotiators for the AFL dock officers and CIO engineers presumably runs out tonight.

And even as the peace talks here approached a climax, there were rumblings from the west coast of a new crisis which might prolong the tie-up there indefinitely.

Harry Bridges, CIO longshore boss, threatened to keep the west coast ports idle unless a separate contract is negotiated for CIO-longshoremen on AFL-manned longshore ships.

No Agreement Yet

Some government labor officials had expressed belief that Bridges and the west coast waterfront employers were in agreement on a new contract except for minor details involving 16 coastwise "steam schooner" type ships.

Bridges, however, told a San Francisco news conference last night that even though the CIO-engineers might agree to return to work as a result of today's conferences here he doubted that the engineers would do so until the steam schooner demands are met.

There was no immediate reaction from the engineers' negotiating committee.

Today's joint session at the Labor Department (10 a. m. EST) was the first get-together of all parties since the wage and union security negotiations were recessed Saturday night for a "cooling off" period.

He added, "Our demonstrated capacity holds out the promise of secure abundance for America's wage and salaried workers, as well as for our farmers and business and professional people."

the earth may run into a concentration of stone particles comprising the body of the comet. If so the show should be something well worth seeing.

Early this year a British astronomer took a quick glance at Gabbazin to see how he was coming along and found that he was traveling just about on schedule. As a result, provided nothing interferes to change the course of the comet, it should pass within 132,000 miles on a point through which the earth will pass only eight days later.

Meteor Shower

The meteor shower which accompanies the close approach to a comet to the earth rests in the comet's make-up. Each comet, like Caesar's Gaul, is divided into three parts, the nucleus, which is the bright spot seen in the telescopes; a head, made of material streaming ahead of the nucleus and then falling back of it; and the tail, which, made up mostly of gases, streams out behind the head for as much as 100,000,000 miles.

The meteors are the stony particles from the head of the comet. They become meteors when they enter the earth's surface because then they burn, so brightly and completely that a lot of light is given off and anyone looking sees a "falling star." Usually the particles are as small as grains of sand. Occasionally, they are as large as the one that blasted a half-mile wide hole in Arizona. But that size seldom arrives.

So be on hand at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Look up into the skies and you may see a truly impressive sight.

INTERNATIONAL OIL PACT

Today's Talk

JUST PIE

Last week I gave utterance to my enthusiasm over the discovery of the noblest and most tasty of chicken pies. Now I want to have a few words about just pie. I have authority for the fact that among the great leaders of our time, and other times, have been those who cherished this most famous of all desserts.

The early pioneers relished pie in no uncertain manner. A great American newspaper once wrote that "New England might hail and worship pie as the great mother of men." Further stating that such men as Jonathan Edwards, Benjamin Franklin, the Adamsons, Emerson, and others, took to pie as a duck does to water—and loved it. I can even recall when it was one of the favorite of all breakfast repasts.

What would a Thanksgiving dinner be without good old pumpkin pie? As a matter of fact apple pie might well be called the great American pie of all. Rightly constructed, and touched up with a creamy crust, it becomes a work of art! Any such creator is worthy of a just and happy heaven, both now and hereafter.

Many great crimes have been committed in the name of good apple pie, but its art has not been wholly lost, for here and there it bobs up to cheer and soothe the soul, and give to the inner man, or woman, both joy and satisfaction. In the most unexpected places you will find it, like some rare flower, that thought it was "born to blush unseen." I once discovered such a pie in upper New York, at a small settlement that gave delight to the entire day, and again at an Iowa town—for breakfast.

As a youth, upon the farm, the tin of pie was always handy, within reach at every meal. And what memories cluster about it! But those were unrationed days, when the apples came from the nearby orchard, and when every ingredient was at the finger tips of the artist in pies.

Yes, we were nourished, in our earlier years on good, honest apple pie, and to this day, when we are asked what we will have for dessert, our reply is, "Pie—and please make it apple!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "All To Win."

ROUNDED LIFE

If riches were the goal of life—
The only stamp of merit here,
Then man could give himself to strife,
However cruel, conscience clear.

If but the rich were truly great,
Then it were folly to be kind;
And all should work for an estate
Which, dying, must be left behind.

But souls have something else to win,
And hearts have something more to gain,
And all the money gathered in
May, at the end of life, be vain.

Men must be more than shrewd and strong,
They should be gracious and refined;
Should be aware of right and wrong,
And unto others should be kind.

At York whole rows of houses were unroofed, big buildings were demolished, wires blown down, lights were put out, and pandemonium reigned supreme for a time. WORLD OILMEN MEET

AFL AND CIO SEEK CONTROL REBEL STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 8 (AP)—Three other unions—two AFL and one CIO—were trying today to take over the segment of 700 "rebel" members threatening to break away from the 3200 member Independent Association of Employees of the Duquesne Light Company, now in the 15 day of a paralyzing power strike.

The rival unions were the AFL-United Mine Workers, district 50; The AFL-International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the CIO-Utility Workers Union.

All of these, along with the independent association, want their names on the collective bargaining election ballot, if and when the national labor relations board decides an election is necessary.

The rebellion in the ranks of the independent union broke out nearly a week ago when spokesmen for the 700 said they were dissatisfied with the leadership of George L. Mueller, president of the independent union, and proposed an organization of their own.

May Rule Today
Unofficially, it was reported that the NLRB expected to rule sometime today on whether an election to decide between the various unions was needed.

Meanwhile, the strike itself appeared tied into a tighter knot than ever.

Duquesne Light Co. negotiators last night rejected a second new offer from the union calling it "a mere reshuffling of proposals made in the last offer."

The company said the union offer was merely a resubmission of the 11 major proposals in its last offer, with the added promise to arbitrate the remaining 25 points of dispute if they could not be negotiated within 30 days.

Urges Arbitration
"If they will arbitrate some demands, why can't they arbitrate all of them and get the service back to the people?" asked Pressly H. McCance, light company president.

"We urged arbitration on September 4, as the only possible method of settling this dispute and we continue to urge it."

"It just stalemated," declared Mueller. "We wanted to settle 11 points now and negotiate or arbitrate the others but the company will only talk complete arbitration."

Federal mediators have arranged separate meetings with the company and management negotiators today.

The power strikers seek a 20 per cent increase which would boost pay from $1.18 to $1.41 an hour, and other benefits. The company has offered a five per cent raise.

Things Of The Soil

BRIEF FACTS ABOUT FOOD STORAGE

Sauerkraut is not only the solution of storage problems where space is lacking to store late cabbage, it is a wholesome and healthful food which should be served around the year.

In all cases where vegetables are buried in outdoor pits, gardeners should not allow the word "pit" to mislead them. It is never wise to dig a pit or any other depression for a burial mound if there is danger of standing water. Better is the idea that the vegetables be heaped on the level ground with a liberal coat of straw under them and the mound of straw and soil heaped around them and over them. Good surface drainage is important to carry surplus water away from the burial mound.

Parsnips may be left where they grow, as freezing does not injure them seriously. However, a supply should be kept in the cellar for emergency purposes in periods of inclement weather and the bulk of the crop buried in late fall to insure an all-winter source in case of prolonged snow covering the ground.

Just before bad weather arrives the final round-up of the garden may be staged and parsnips, turnips, carrots, beets and any other root crops remaining gathered for burial in a mixed heap. Or these odds-and-ends may be placed in a barrel or barrels and buried beneath a covering of dry vegetation and soil. Merely lay the barrel on its side to bury. Supplies of vegetables are easily removed from the end when needed.

Kleffer pears should never be ripe when stored, else they will keep but a few weeks. They require a temperature barely above 32 degrees. Then, if kept at a temperature of 60 to 65 degrees for 10 days to 2 weeks, they reach perfect condition for eating or cooking.

Potatoes exposed to light, even a medium light, before or during storage often develop a poisonous substance around their eyes. Safety lies in protection from prolonged sunlight after harvest and storage in a dark place.

If sweet potatoes are handled carefully at harvest time to avoid bruises and abrasions and then kept for 10 days to 2 weeks in a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees for "curing," they keep well until late spring. Permanent storage room temperature should range somewhere between 55 and 60 degrees. The decline from high or low temperatures here recommended should be gradual.

Tops of turnips and rutabagas should be cut off before burial. Both

DENY CLEMENCY IN MURDER CASE

Harrisburg, Oct. 8 (AP)—Corrine Sykes, 22, Philadelphia Negro housemaid, sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of October 14 for the murder of Mrs. Freda Wodlinger, has been denied a plea for clemency by the state Board of Pardons.

Board Chairman John C. Bell, Jr., the state's lieutenant governor, said yesterday that "after an extensive study of the case," the board "has not found anything of sufficient merit to warrant a re-argument, nor can it justify a commutation of the death penalty to life imprisonment." The convicted woman was scheduled to die the week of September 30, but three days before that date Governor Martin granted a stay of execution until the week of October 14, in order to allow three widely known psychiatrists to examine her and also to permit the Pardon Board to act on her plea for a re-hearing.

Bell said in a statement "the Board of Pardons has very carefully considered her case and all the points, pleas and arguments presented in her behalf."

The woman was convicted on March 17, 1945, and the penalty was fixed as death by the jury. Later the state Supreme Court reviewed the case and upheld the verdict of the Philadelphia court. The U. S. Supreme Court also refused to consider an appeal.

Her only hope of escaping the chair is another respite from Governor Martin. If she dies she will be the second woman to be electrocuted in Pennsylvania.

SOON WILL COST MORE TO TAKE THE FAMILY OUT

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—It's going to cost you more to eat out.

Restaurant prices on meals with meat go up 15 per cent, starting Thursday, Oct. 10.

That's only part of the story. Here's the general picture. It resolves around the date of June 30. Until June 30 restaurants were not supposed to charge more for meals than they had charged in April, 1943.

OPA had ordered it that way in order to keep restaurant prices down.

Price Controls Went Off
But June 30 came and on that day Congress let OPA die. Right there all price controls on everything, including restaurant meals, died, too.

Price controls were off on everything until late in July when Congress, passing a new price control law, brought OPA back to life.

But Congress had made changes. Because of the way the new law was written, not everything that had been under price control June 30 had to go back under ceilings.

For example: poultry and eggs no longer were under price controls. And fish, which had not been under ceilings June 30, remained free of ceilings.

Used Fish, Poultry, Eggs
Yet restaurants used a lot of fish, poultry and eggs in the dishes they served and the freedom from ceilings of those things meant a great deal to restaurants.

It meant that dealers who sold those foods to restaurants were free to charge whatever they could get for their fish, poultry, eggs.

If OPA had forced restaurants to go back under the ceilings they had on June 30, then this is what would have happened:

The restaurants would be paying higher prices for fish, poultry and eggs but could not charge more than they had charged June 30.

This would have meant a loss to the restaurants. So OPA told the restaurants they could do this:

When fish and eggs and poultry cost them more, they could add part of that cost to their meals which contained those things.

Thus the price to you—of meals containing those foods—were allowed to rise.

They Got "Hot"
But then, after price ceilings were put back on meat, OPA told restaurants they could not charge any more for their meat meals than they had charged June 30.

So the restaurants were stuck with a loss. OPA told them they could do this:

When the price to you—of meals containing those foods—were allowed to rise.

Thus the price to you—of meals containing those foods—were allowed to rise.

So the restaurants were stuck with a loss. OPA told them they could do this:

When the price to you—of meals containing those foods—were allowed to rise.

Thus the price to you—of meals containing those foods—were allowed to rise.

So the restaurants were stuck with a loss. OPA told them they could do this:

When the price to you—of meals containing those foods—were allowed to rise.

Thus the price to you—of meals containing those foods—were allowed to rise.

So the restaurants were stuck with a loss. OPA told them they could do this:

So the restaurants were stuck with a loss. OPA told them they could do this:

KRUPP FAMILY IS SCATTERED WIDELY BY WAR

By JAMES DEVLIN

Essen, Germany, (P)—The Krupp munitions family, like thousands of other German families, now is scattered by death, illness and the aftermath of war.

It was different in the summer of 1930 when nine members of the Krupp family posed for a huge oil portrait that reflected unity, security and wealth.

The canvas, 10 feet high and 18 feet wide, still hangs in the Krupp estate, Villa Hugel, now occupied by British authorities in charge of Ruhr coal.

Widely Scattered

Painted by the English artist, George Harcourt, it shows the family gathered before a large tapestry. From left to right, these are the family members and what became of them:

Berthold, third son, then about college age, wearing a dark coat and flannel trousers, standing with his arms reclining on the back of a chair—now living in Austria.

Irmgard, eldest daughter, seated in the chair and wearing a green dinner dress and pearl necklace—married to Baron Raitz von Frentz and living in Hannover.

Alfred, eldest son, seated on the arm of the chair, dressed in a gray business suit with black and red striped tie—director of the Krupp works in Essen, he was arrested at Villa Hugel when American troops took the town shortly before the war ended. Disposition of his case still is to be determined.

Eckbert Was Killed

Harald, fourth son, then about high school age, wearing sports clothes with a fawn-colored sweater and white sport shirt—captured by the Russians at Bucharest.

Waltraut, youngest daughter, a child of about 12 with blonde curls, wearing a pink dress with white collar, white socks and black leather slipper—married to a wool merchant.

Eckbert, youngest son, about 10 years old, dressed in a white Eton type suit with white socks and low black shoes—killed in Italy in April, 1945, while serving with the German army.

Bertha, the mother, seated in a chair, wearing a blue dinner dress, pearls and a white shawl over her shoulders, and holding the youngest boy's hand—living in Austria.

May Be Tried

Gustav, the father and head of the once-powerful Krupp dynasty. He looks the part of a big industrialist. A man with steel gray hair, ruddy complexion and alert expression, he stands, in morning attire with winged collar, behind his wife. He was saved by illness from going on trial with Hermann Goering and 29 other Nazi leaders at Nuernberg. Depending on his recovery he still faces the possibility of being tried for his share in arming Germany.

Claus, another son, seated in a tan business suit—killed in an air accident in 1939.

In brief, most of the male members of the family encountered disasters of one kind or another.

The family's connection with iron and steel dates back to 1587 when Arndt Krupp came from the Rhineland to Essen and took up the trade of metalsmith.

WORTH DADDY'S TROUBLE—Ralph J. Marone, Jr., 3, and sister Catherine, 9, give spo: some breakfast at Hartford, Conn. Their dad, S/Sgt. Marone, was fined $20 for bringing the dog from Europe on a troop ship in violation of Army rules.

Martin Assails PAC Activity

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 8 (P)—Governor Martin, campaigning as the Republican nominee for the U. S. Senate, last night assailed the Political Action Committee drive "for government controlled full employment" as "unsound" and "possible only in a slave state."

Martin said "the American plan" had been challenged by socialism which he described as "fostered by the tired, worn and old countries of Europe" and "the deadly enemy of the form of government that guided the growth of the United States."

The governor repeated his charge that "the Democratic machine has been stolen" and "the Communist PAC is in the driver's seat."

"The policy-making power in the Democratic party is the PAC," Martin went on. "It favors the alien system which our forefathers came to this country to escape, a system which never gave freedom to the individual. The PAC and the New Deal Democrats are turning the clock backward."

AIRPORT FOR KANE

SAYS GOP WILL WIN BY 290,000

Harrisburg, Oct. 8 (P)—The Republican state-wide election campaign "is coming along in good shape," Governor Martin said Monday in reiterating his prediction the GOP will win in November by 290,000 votes.

"The good people of every vocation are showing a great interest," he told his news conference, adding that GOP candidates are having "large crowds" wherever they go.

"Another favorable thing is that so many Jeffersonian Democrats are coming to our meetings," Martin said, explaining he knows they are Jeffersonians because "they tell it."

Martin also disclosed he had received a mimeographed letter from John U. Shroyer, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, on soldier legislation.

"I replied to him that I stood on my record as far as veterans' affairs are concerned," Martin said. He withheld any comment, however, on Shroyer's charge that his administration "was a do-nothing one," when the former highways secretary recently announced he was backing John S. Rice, the Democratic candidate for governor.

Carney Warns About Reducing Security

Harrisburg, Oct. 8 (P)—Reduction of military expenditures was declared to be a sure step in "reduction of our security and our effectiveness in the world" by Vice Admiral Robert B. Carney, Deputy Chief of United States Naval Operations.

In an address at the 33rd annual meeting of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce last night Admiral Carney said the United States should be kept strong to support "a memorable campaign on behalf of democratic ideals" being waged by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

"A tragically large percentage of the world's population today is only impressed by strength," Admiral Carney said. "If expenditures are deeply slashed, the readiness of our armed forces will be weakened proportionately."

He told the Chamber there would always be need for a navy "even if the Hottentots in Central Africa took it into their heads to declare war on the United States."

Warns GOP Chiefs On Overconfidence

Harrisburg, Oct. 8 (P)—Republican county leaders went back to their home counties today with a warning from top party leaders against over-confidence in Pennsylvania's general election campaign.

"They were urged at a luncheon meeting yesterday to intensify efforts to get out the vote on election day."

The warnings were delivered by Governor Martin, nominee for the U. S. Senate; Attorney General James H. Duff, for governor, and Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor.

"We have been taking too much for granted," said Governor Martin. "There is a wave of resentment going out over the nation against what is happening in Washington but that doesn't get the ballots into the ballot box."

Emphasizing the danger of too much confidence, Duff said "it is not the Democratic party that is a threat; it is the PAC." (Political Action Committee.)

Says GOP 'Using' Communist Party

Pittsburgh, Oct. 8 (P)—Senator Joseph F. Guffey, opening the Pittsburgh Democratic campaign last night, "charged" Governor Martin, his Republican opponent for the Senate, with having shown a "willingness to deal" with communist leaders "and to use them in promoting his political ambitions."

Speaking in emergency-lighted northside Carnegie hall, Guffey threw out this question to the governor:

"If you are such a foe of the communists, why did you permit the communist party to be placed on the ballot in Pennsylvania, in the face of an existing opinion by the attorney general of the United States that the communist party advocated the overthrow of the government of the United States?"

"I charge that you permitted the communist party on the ballot with the deliberate intention of making political use of them in this election."

DUTY BOUND
San Francisco, (P)—Policewoman Elizabeth Rickey doesn't let her small size deter her from doing her duty. She saw a 150-pound man snatch a case of whiskey from a truck and gave chase. The culprit dropped the liquor and tried to defend himself. Mrs. Rickey collared the man, dragged him 50 feet to a call box and held him with one hand while she telephoned with the other.

Ship-to-shore radio, now a vital marine function, was pioneered by the Coast Guard in 1904.

Hot Water Temperature Never Right?

get rid of that furnace coil

Nothing is more exasperating than to turn on the hot water—and get nothing but a tepid trickle, or clouds of scalding steam. But that's what you get if you depend on a furnace coil for your hot water supply. When the furnace fire's roaring, the hot water pipes rattle with steam. When the fire's burning low, the water is barely lukewarm. If you've been away and the furnace is out—there's no hot water at all.

Don't put up with the inconvenience of a furnace coil because people tell you it heats water for nothing. It doesn't. Estimates show that a furnace coil decreases the efficiency of a furnace by 20%. That means every fifth shovel of coal goes to heat the water in the furnace coil instead of heating your house.

Switch to an Automatic Gas Water Heater

Fully automatic Gas water heaters are inexpensive to install and most economical to operate. You'll never worry about having hot water; there's always a plentiful supply at just the temperature you want at the turn of the tap.

Your Gas Appliance Dealer can tell you the many advantages of Gas Water Heating or ask your Gas Company for information.

Pittsburgh Hotel Strike Goes On

Pittsburgh, Oct. 8. (P)—Hotel managers and union representatives said no new leads to settlement of the eight-day-old hotel strike were uncovered at a meeting with conciliators yesterday.

Further meetings will be held but no time was fixed. Eighteen hundred service employees of eight major hotels are striking for a 20 per cent pay raise. They are members of the AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance.

The Junction hotel in Western Australia is surrounded by a four-foot fence made of empty beer bottles, known locally as "dead marines."

Chapter 24

A chill centered in Martin's heart and spread through his veins. It was not the thickset man's hint of a beating that terrified him, ugly as that was, but the thin one's allusion to Barbara. The thought that she, too, might have received a phone call was more than he could endure.

"Get hold of Morrissey," Martin said. "There are some things he's got to know in a hurry if he wants to keep out of a jam that will wreck him."

"Morrissey?" The thin one raised his eyebrows. "Never heard of him. Did you, Mickey?"

"Sure," the other answered. "That was the name of a guy I knew in San Quentin. He never got over a dose of lethal gas they gave him for a job he did on a cop."

"You see, King? You're all upset, worrying about somebody whose troubles are over."

The car had left Pearl Street and was swinging into South Street, heading north toward the bridges.

Fulton Fish Market exuded its memorable fragrance on Martin's left, and on his right several freighters lay at East River piers. Men were working or loitering in the market and on the docks, but the broad strip of uneven brick paving might have traversed the center of the Sahara for all the hope of rescue it offered. The thin man watched Martin every instant.

Nevertheless Martin knew he must make a break, and the sooner the better.

He leaned back, half closing his eyes, pretending to relax. In his pockets his hands curled into tight fists and all over his body the muscles hardened stealthily.

Mickey, his narrowed eyes reflected in the rear-view mirror, said, "That green job a block behind has been there ever since we picked him up. It stays put, not getting closer or farther, no matter if I go fast or slow."

The thin one looked back, and this was Martin's chance, but the thought of the car behind made him wait.

"Who is it, King?" the thin one demanded.

"The cops, of course," Martin said. "You didn't think I'd take any risks after Morrissey's threats, did you? I tipped them off right after Joe Lark phoned me."

The gunman eyed Martin coldly, unconvinced. He said to Mickey, "Turn off. Twist around some corners. It don't look like any law car."

The sedan swerved into Catherine Street, and as it did so Martin caught a glimpse of the green car. He could not see its occupants, but it looked like any private automobile being driven along by someone who was minding his own business, not hurrying. Two blocks away Mickey turned into Cherry Street and started to pass beneath the Manhattan Bridge. Mickey's eyes in the rear-view mirror betrayed nothing and Martin's heart grew heavy.

It had been a false alarm and he had missed, back there, the best chance he would ever have to make his break.

Then the thin one cried, "Here it comes. Run for it, Mickey." And the sedan lurched forward, and Martin sat up, thrilled in every fiber.

"No funny business or you get it," the thin man warned, bringing the revolver out from under his coat. His wedge-shaped face was paler and twitched violently about the mouth and eyes.

The sedan settled down, gathering speed. Above the roar of the exhaust Martin heard the racing motor of the car behind, near and coming nearer. A siren screamed suddenly, almost in his ear.

"They're climbing right over us," "Take the next corner," yelled the thin one, his face working.

He raised the gun. Out of the corner of his eye Martin saw the radiator of the pursuing car creep alongside.

The revolver roared, packing the interior of the sedan with stunning sound. Without conscious thought Martin hurled himself at the arm holding the gun, grabbed the cloth sleeve, closed his eyes, and pulled downward with all his might.

Another shot rang out, not in the car this time. There was a heavy jolt, a noise of sheet metal crumpling, and a shrieking of rubber over asphalt. The sedan slapped the curb sideways and stopped. A voice belted, "Stick 'em up!"

Martin opened his eyes. He saw Weber and Williams of the Homicide Squad, Weber thrusting a revolver through the driver's window at Mickey, whose hands were raised.

Weber said, "You don't have to hang onto that one any more, Marty," and Martin became aware that he was still trying to pull the thin man's arm from its socket. He let go hastily because there was a bullet hole in the thin man's forehead large enough to accommodate a fat lead pencil, and from it a rivulet of blood ran down over the surprised face.

"He's dead," Martin said.

"Sure," agreed Williams, opening the door. "Better him than us. Who are they?"

"The live one answers to the name of Mickey," said Martin. "All I know about the dead one is that he told me people who carry guns are apt to get hurt. He wasn't fooling."

"Pals of Morrissey?"

"They wouldn't admit it when I threw it up to them, but I'll bet on it."

"This one will admit it when we get him alone," Weber said grimly. "We'll see to it, on account of Cloud thinks we're good detectives and we don't want to disillusion him. Williams and I squawked when he told us to tail you, but he said it was a special job and he wanted his best men on it because anything could happen to a screwball like you. He was right about that. I want him to think he was right about us, too."

More Schoolboys Die After Crash

Apeldoorn, Holland, Oct. 8 (P)—Seven more schoolboys died in a hospital today, increasing to 19 the number killed by a Dutch naval plane which crashed into a school gymnasium yesterday, setting it on fire. Seven other boys remained in a hospital with burns.

Max Chistern, 21, pilot of the British-made firefly, also was killed when it fell as he was stunting. His mother, watching, died of heart trouble.

Baltimore Livestock

CATTLE—Receipts at the opening of this week were again sharply increased over the same period a week ago. The increase was mainly stocker and feeder steers and these predominated the day's receipts. Slaughter steer receipts showed a slight improvement today but the receipts of the stocker and bulls were scanty. Trading in general was very active with outside buyers taking the bulk of the slaughter cattle supply leaving low-grade cows to be absorbed by local and big packers.

Slaughter steers fully steady to strong as compared with close of last week. In this division, three lots of top-grade grass-fat steers around 1,100 to 1,245 pounds, $20.25, day's top. About eight loads of average and top-grade grassers, $14.75-19.75. Medium and low-grade, $15.50-18, and a few common grassers to $12.25.

Heifers fully steady with the close of last week. In this division, a truck lot of top-grade lightweight grass, $19.50, top this class. The bulk of the heifer receipts, medium to average-grade grassers, $14-17. Common lightweight heifers of dairy-breeding to $11. Cows fully steady to strong as compared with the close of last week with some instances 25c higher. Good young beef cows exceptionally scarce, few old head offered, $15-18. Medium cows largely $11-12.50, with numerous high-yielding individuals, $18-14.25. Common cows, cows carrying fat and flesh, but aged, and $7.50-9, with most sales starting at $8.

Bulls fully steady with the close of last week. It was a stupor market on both good beef and sausage bulls at the $14.10 ceiling. Cutter, common and medium grades, $10-15.50, few $14. In the stocker and feeder division, approximately 30 loads

FIND BODY OF BOY IN POOL

Secaucus, N. J., Oct. 8 (P)—The sight of a tiny hand protruding from oozy mud at the edge of a stagnant pool brought to a tragic end last night the three-day search for Douglas Koenemund, blue-eyed two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard Koenemund, Sr.

The body of the youngster who disappeared Saturday morning while he was playing with his brother on the pig farm of his parents was discovered on the Supel stock farm 500 feet from his home by John Zengel and Albert Henkel, both of Secaucus, while searching parties were dynamiting other nearby pools. Police theorized the detonations had brought the body to the surface, shaking it loose from the miry bottom of the pool.

The mother collapsed when told the boy was dead but the father received the news stoically.

Hope of finding the boy alive was virtually abandoned Sunday night. A searching party that at times totaled 500 and made of police, firemen and neighbors combed the tall-weeded swamps aided by 4 seaplanes during daylight and using giant searchlights at night.

offered. Trading in general very active and prices fully steady to strong, with some instances 25c higher as compared with the close of last week. The top feeder steer price, $19.50, for a load of choice natives that averaged around 950 pounds. Numerous loads and lots of average and top-grade natives and Westerns, covering a wide range of weights, $16.50-18.50, with a sizeable string, $16.50-18.50, and a few common, $15-16.25, and a few common, $12.50-13.50.

Eugene Ormandys Are Living Apart

Philadelphia, Oct. 8 (AP) — Mrs. Eugene Ormandy, wife of the internationally known conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, says she and her husband have separated but "there is no talk now of divorce."

"It's just a separation," Vienna-born Mrs. Ormandy emphasized to a reporter yesterday.

The attractive 50-year-old brunette, who formerly was first harpist with the New York Philharmonic orchestra, confirmed a joint statement made on behalf of the couple, which said:

"Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ormandy are living apart."

The 47-year-old conductor, who succeeded Leopold Stokowski as director of the Philadelphia orchestra in 1936 did not comment on an announcement which his wife said was made through "a mutual friend" and "by mutual agreement."

Natural Gas Can Be Converted Easily

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 8 (AP) — Conversion of natural gas into gasoline now is economically competitive with production of gasoline from petroleum, E. V. Murphree, executive vice president of the Standard Oil Development Company, says.

Production of gasoline from coal is practical but not competitive, Murphree said in a speech prepared for delivery at yesterday's session of the American Gas Association convention.

Automatic controls and low temperature cooking featured design of postwar gas ranges on display at a gas appliance manufacturers' association exhibit.

Also exhibited was a steam oven designed to defrost and warm frozen foods ready to serve in seven minutes.

FOWL AND FISH

St. Peter, Minn., (AP)—Arthur Noteboom landed a 6 1/2-pound bass when he shot a small teal on the opening day of the duck hunting season. The duck landed in open water and when Noteboom rowed over to retrieve it he found a bass choking on the duck. He scooped both of 'em into his boat.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 8 (AP)—Miss Mary P. Lang, former Allegheny high school teacher who pioneered in the fight to make the teachers retirement fund a law, died yesterday from injuries suffered in an automobile accident September 13. She was 87. Miss Lang retired in 1929 and afterward taught a year, without pay, in the University of Shanghai.

COMPLICATIONS IN PALESTINE CASE SOLUTION

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The pressing Palestine problem—like most other major international issues of these dangerous days—is heavily complicated by the differences between Russia and the Western Allies.

That is to say, uncertainty regarding the Soviet Union's ultimate ambitions very definitely enters into Britain's hesitation in dealing with this urgent difficulty. I dare say that if Moscow were maintaining a policy of keeping its hands off the strategically important middle East, England wouldn't hesitate to agree to increased Jewish immigration into the Holy Land over the objections of the Arabs.

However, John Bull is fearful of making a move which would turn the great Arab world against him and thereby give Russia a chance to add the Middle East to its sphere of influence. As things now stand, if England lost control of that area it would cut her empire into halves from the standpoint of military defense.

Sphinx of Moscow

In short, the whole political and strategic situation is predicated on Britain's relations with Russia, and at this juncture there is no one outside the Kremlin who knows what is in the mind of the sphinx of Moscow.

All this strikes me as hooking up neatly with the disclosure by an authoritative war office source in London that the British general staff has proposed tentatively the withdrawal of British administrative and supply bases in the Eastern Mediterranean—including Palestine—to the East African colonies of Kenya and Tanganyika. This source declared that the proposal envisages retention of Britain's forward operational bases as long as practicable in such countries as Palestine, the Sudan, Trans-Jordan and Egypt.

Well, now, what does this sensational suggestion mean? Up to this juncture Britain's plan for imperial defense has depended on controlling the Mediterranean and the Suez canal—her life-line to the Far East—and this necessitated domination of the Middle East, with its large Arabian population.

Seek Return Of Striking Pupils

Seranton, Pa., Oct. 8 (AP)—The school board of nearby Mill City scheduled a meeting today with a pupil's committee in an effort to end the walkout of approximately 80 per cent of the Falls-Overfield high school's 165 pupils.

Mrs. Harry Rogers, a member of the board, said the walkout was in protest of the board's appointment of Miss Ann Clark, to an instructor's position temporarily held by John Ruzinkay, a veteran of World War II.

The board member said that while the pupils' committee will be given an audience to clarify the issue, "the appointment of Miss Clark is final."

Boston, Oct. 8 (AP)—Revising an earlier forecast, the Boston weather bureau said today that it "won't be very good weather" for the third World Series game tomorrow between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Red Sox.

The forecaster said it would be "cloudy, rainy, windy and quite cool."

An earlier report said it might be an ideal day—sunny and warm.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 8 (AP)—A jurisdictional union fight shut off shipments of beer for the second day today from the Pittsburgh Brewing Company's iron city brewery. The AFL-Teamsters union is picketing the plant in an effort to organize the bottling house workers.

was highly unlikely that Britain could hold the Mediterranean in a third world conflict. Hitler demonstrated that danger when he had European armies driving down toward the Middle East while Marshal Rommel was racing hell-for-leather for Alexandria across the Libyan desert. Had the Nazi dictator closed that vast pincers, the Allies would have been in a bad way.

These points presumably have been under the military microscope in London. I understand there has been heavy debate among the experts as to which course to pursue—the old or the new.

The old school is said to have advocated sticking to the strategy of trying to defend the Mediterranean route. The new school has wanted to scrap that and establish a defense across Africa from the gold coast on the west to Kenya and Tanganyika on the east, with South Africa as a link in this defense to safeguard the Cape of Good Hope route to India and Britain's other far eastern territories.

DEWEY, TAFT SPLIT OVER WAR TRIALS

(By The Associated Press)

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, potential rivals for the 1948 Republican Presidential nomination, split sharply today over the Nazi war crimes trials.

As Democrats kept up their attacks on Taft's criticism of the Nuernberg verdicts, Dewey touched off the GOP leadership clash in New York last night when he came out bluntly in opposition to the Ohio senator's views.

Without mentioning Taft by name, Dewey defended the fairness of the trials and declared that "no one can have any sympathy for these Nazi leaders who brought such agony upon the world."

In Washington, Democrats who have experienced their own intraparty troubles of late, gleefully hailed the Taft-Dewey cleavage as likely to lessen the emphasis on the recent foreign policy schism between the Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Direct Contradiction

Taft said that the Nuernberg verdicts, condemning 12 top Nazis to death, were a miscarriage of justice and "violate that fundamental principle of American law that a man cannot be tried under a law enacted after the alleged offense was committed."

Dewey's statement, in which he was joined by Irving M. Ives, GOP nominee for U. S. Senator in New York, declared flatly that the German war criminals had "fair trial."

"While the just penalties imposed can neither expiate their sins nor bring back the lives of millions for whose deaths they are responsible, their sentences will serve as a warning against future acts of aggression and oppression for totalitarian rulers."

In Detroit, Taft said he did "not care to comment pending fuller study" of the Dewey-Ives and other statements.

In 1867, when Alaska was purchased, the Coast Guard cutter "Lincoln" was the first U. S. ship in Alaskan waters.
